Market Analysis

- Industry Overview: The Roblox gaming platform is growing in player base each year. Growing from 200 million active monthly users in May 2021 to over 300 million active monthly users as of May 2023. There is a very strong market for simulator games on Roblox with top games such as Pet Simulator X reaching over 1 million concurrent players at one point
- Target Audience: Primarily aimed at young gamers aged 10-16 who make up the majority of Roblox's player base
- Competitive Analysis: While there are other simulator games on Roblox, 'Coding Simulator' is a unique idea for a simulator game with lots of unique features and content as well as a very beautiful map and models. The whole game is very well thought out and designed.

Organisation and Management

- Structure: A small, agile team with experience in computer science and coding on Roblox.

- Management: Led by 3 brothers, 2 of which have a background in computer science education, the other with finance and design skills

Service or Product Line

- Game Description: 'Coding Simulator' allows players to role play as a coder, providing engaging gameplay with a steady progression to earn more and more cash

Marketing and Sales Strategy

- Marketing Plan: Utilising social media platforms such as X, Platform specific advertising on Roblox as well as discord
- Monetisation: The game is free to play with in-game purchases to speed up progress in the game such as purchasing cash or game passes that give you permanent perks in the game.

Financial Projections

- First-Year Projections: Aim to reach 500 concurrent players with a revenue goal of 4 million robux (approximately 14000 USD after exchange)
- Five-Year Outlook: Expand the game with updates that provide more engaging and exciting new content that hopes to target a wider audience, projecting a revenue of 100,000 USD
